...Plaintiff's security, and granting an injunction to restrain the liquidator of the company from intermeddling with the property, and giving the Plaintiff liberty to apply under the winding-up of the company with reference to his security, and all proceedings under the order, might be discharged. The company was an English company formed under the Companies Act, 1862, for erecting hotels in India and China, and on the route between England and the British settlements in those countries. The Plaintiff was a contractor, and money had become due to him from the company for the erection of an hotel at Cairo. By an agreement, dated the 30th of December, 18G9, made between the company and Perry, reciting to the effect that the company was indebted to Perry in £9073, for instalments under a contract for erecting an hotel at Cairo, the company agreed with Perry that all the property of the company at Cairo and Point de Galle, including hotels, buildings, machinery, fixtures, and furniture at each of the hotels, with the appurtenances (subject as to the hotel at Point de Galle to a mortgage thereon for £8000 and interest, and as to all the said property, or the greater part thereof, to debentures of the company issued, or to be issued, for a sum not exceeding £25,000 and interest thereon), should thenceforth stand charged with the repayment to Perry of the £9073, with interest at £6 per cent, from the 1st of September, 1869, until payment. The agreement also gave Perry powers of sale, and contained an undertaking by the company to give him a legal mortgage, and the company appointed the managers of the two hotels severally attorneys of the company to do all acts at Cairo and Point de Galle for making the agreement effectual in those places.
