Dear Chemo: A Journey with Breast Cancer Donna Judge

Donna was your typical happy and healthy thirty-seven-year-old woman. She was a wife and mother of two beautiful children living a wonderful life in the suburbs of Boston. Until one day, she found the small lump on her breast that would ultimately change the course of her life forever. Not all for the bad, however. This is her story in her own words. A story of dealing with the rollercoaster ride of being diagnosed with cancer four separate times and how she managed to defy the odds and live her life to the fullest.

This book does not necessarily chronicle Donna's daily life but is more a series of short stories of how she would deal with each situation with candid truth. In this book, you will read about her family's tragic history with this disease and the many various treatments and surgeries she endured over a ten-year period. But far more importantly you will learn about how a woman faced with impossible odds faced this journey head on with no regrets and lived each day inspiring others ..... with a sense of humor to boot.
